Fashion Law

Through our specified knowledge of the fashion industry, we develop tailored business and legal strategies that help designers, marketers, retailers and manufacturers remain at the forefront of the industry.

Understanding the unique demands of the seasonal design process, we provide legal advice on how to forecast, protect, license and sell, so our clients can focus on being creative and staying ahead of market trends. Our team combines proficiency in intellectual property with multifaceted experience in real estate, commercial, corporate and technology law. Located in the fashion epicenters of New York, Los Angeles and Miami, we are positioned to respond quickly to our clients' needs, ensuring that their vision and goals are brought to fruition.
