Insurance / Reinsurance

Stroock's Insurance and Reinsurance practice is recognized for its broad experience and dedication to serving the insurance industry. Our clients include a wide range of companies on the full spectrum of insurance matters, including leading insurers, reinsurers and financial institutions.

We provide counsel and strategic advice on domestic and cross-border mergers and acquisitions, capital markets transactions, reinsurance transactional, litigation and arbitration matters, regulatory matters (including market conduct investigations by regulators and state attorneys general), compliance issues, rogue agent issues, international sales practices and tax matters.

We offer a breadth of knowledge and experience that few other law firms can match, partnering with our clients to provide sophisticated solutions that are effective and add value in support of our clients' commercial objectives. Our integrated industry-focused approach brings together skilled practitioners from different insurance-related disciplines, including corporate, tax, litigation and regulatory specialists. We work with clients to help them operate in a regulated industry, successfully consummate transactions, navigate potential disputes and regulatory exposures and, if necessary, to manage complex litigations, arbitrations and government investigations.

"Stroock has expertise in multiple insurance-related transactional and regulatory matters, including financial restructuring, insolvency, demutualizations and market conduct." – Legal 500
