Intellectual Property

Intellectual Property and Technology

Our team provides comprehensive business and intellectual property and technology solutions to emerging companies, private equity and hedge funds, large multinational corporations and individual inventors in industries as diverse as electronics, computer software, consumer products, entertainment, life style brands, life sciences and financial services.

Ranked in several IP disciplines by Chambers USA, we advise on all aspects of U.S. and international IP law, including patents, trademarks, copyrights and trade secrets laws. Drawing upon our in-depth legal expertise and diverse experience, we provide business-minded counsel to give clients an edge in developing, protecting, maintaining, licensing and monetizing their IP assets. In addition to our commercial-focused advisory work, we have a high-profile and active litigation practice, which includes defending against infringement claims, enforcing our clients' rights and resolving disputes before U.S. and foreign patent offices. The fact that we are regularly engaged in jury trials and complex, multijurisdictional matters is a testament to the strength and reputation of our group.

We also regularly represent clients, whether it is a technology innovator or a traditional business with little to no proprietary technology, in a wide range of technology transactions. Our work includes preparing and negotiating outsourcing and cloud services agreements, software licenses, professional services and consulting agreements and advising on mergers, acquisitions and joint ventures. With our prominence in the financial industry, our team provides innovative counsel on FinTech, cryptocurrency and blockchain matters.
