Patents and Patent Litigation

Recognized by Chambers USA, we represent clients – from individual inventors to multinational companies – on patent prosecution, counseling and litigation matters, helping them develop and protect worldwide patent portfolios.

Our team represents companies in a diverse range of industries, including financial services, consumer goods and life sciences, and possesses a sophisticated understanding of a wide array of scientific disciplines and industries. Leveraging our in-depth technical knowledge, we design proactive strategies that help clients patent innovations, monetize IP assets and avoid third-party infringement claims. We also provide guidance on freedom to operate opinions, patent clearances and strategies to design around competitive patents to help get a product to market.

Known for our skill and success in trying IP cases to verdict, we represent individuals and corporate entities, as plaintiffs or defendants, in patent disputes before federal and state courts. Our comprehensive litigation practice includes advising on the intersection of patent infringement and competition law, defending against claims brought by patent trolls and non-practicing entities and representing clients in matters before the ITC and the USPTO, including post grants proceedings and appeals.
